

Home Discovered

Highlights of the Southwest at Discover Home 2006

PHOTO BY GREG ALLEN
 Master Sgt. Michael Dols, 27th Component Maintenance Squadron and Master Sgt. Robert Sobush, 27th Mission Support Group, work to start a fire at the burger burn put on by Cannon's first sergeants' group, July 14, for visitors to Discover Home. The group fed about 1,000 Airmen and civilians.

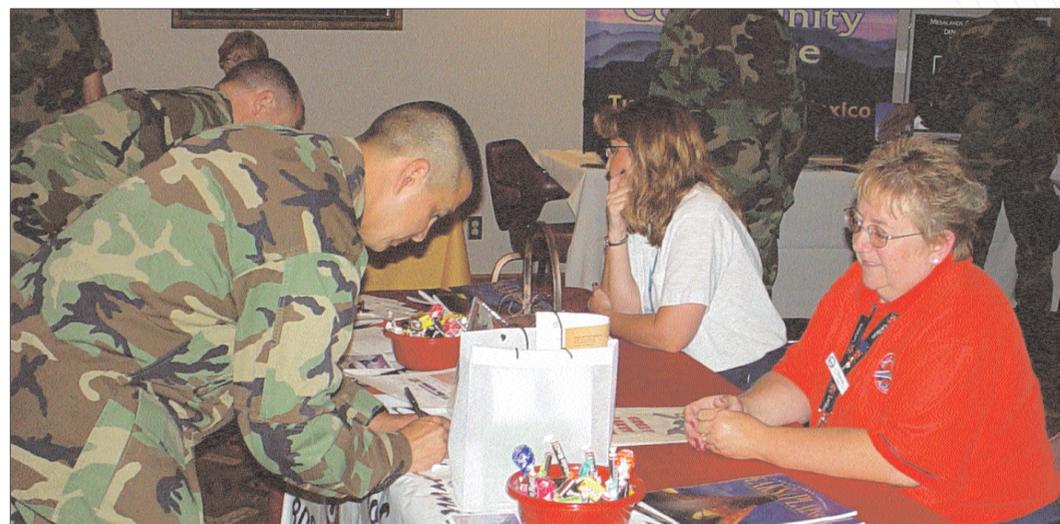

PHOTO BY YOLANDA ROMERO
 Airmen registered for a variety of give-aways totaling more than $6,000 fair on July 14. Many vendors said they did not know what to expect with the first year of the fair, but look forward to participating next year, said Yolanda Romero, 27th Services Squadron marketing director.

PHOTO BY YOLANDA ROMERO
 Tech. Sgt. Daniel Eilenstine, Area Defense Counsel defense paralegal, visits with a representative from Eastern New Mexico State University. "Discover Home was an absolute success. The vendors were completely overwhelmed by the participation. Most of them ran out of materials by early afternoon," said Maj. Derek Tupper, 27th Services Squadron commander. "They all said they'll definitely be back next year."

PHOTO BY YOLANDA ROMERO
 Airman 1st Class Christine Marquez, 27th Medical Support Squadron, sampled food items particular to the Southwest. Southwest cuisine will be a highlight of next year's Discover Home fair, said Ms. Romero. About 1,000 Cannon Airmen, dependants and civilians turned out for the first Discover Home Travel Fair, an initiative by Col. Scott West, 27th Fighter Wing commander, to educate Team Cannon about the Southwest.