Cannon Air Force Base conducting Active Shooter protocol

CANNON AIR FORCE BASE, N.M. – Around 4:50 p.m. today, Cannon Air Force Base Security Forces received reports of an individual hearing gunfire. Security Forces immediately entered into active shooter protocol.

Active shooter protocol involves a base lockdown, shelter in place, and securing facilities. Additionally, no movement is allowed on or off base.

Multiple community law enforcement agencies are assisting Cannon Air Force Base Security Forces in securing the base. Cannon AFB will continue to search the base and secure the area.

There are no reported injuries nor are there any suspects.

All children at the Child Development Centers, school-aged program, and Youth Center are safe and secure.

Updates will be made available on Cannon AFB social media as we receive them.
