AFCEC to provide video PFAS update for Cannon AFB

CANNON AIR FORCE BASE, New Mexico – The Air Force Civil Engineer Center will release a recorded update of the Department of the Air Force’s on-going actions to address per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) identified at Cannon Air Force Base on December 14, 2022.

In this video environmental project managers from the Air Force Civil Engineer Center will provide program status updates and answer public PFAS questions.

In an effort to address questions regarding the ongoing PFAS mitigation efforts, please submit all related queries to 27SOCES.cannon.rpm@us.af.mil no later than December 8, 2022.

The public update will be available on December 14 at 9 a.m. on www.cannon.af.mil/Environmental. Questions sent in will be captured and answered in the video update.
